

Some people are lucky enough to love their work

If you want your job to be more than a paycheck, call us.

We're looking for people to work as direct support professionals. You'll help individuals with disabilities do the things most of us do every day—get ready for work...go to appointments...prepare meals...visit friends.

People throughout Rhode Island are ready to hire today—on their own or with state funding through the following programs:

- PersonalChoice – For people with disabilities and elders
- PASS – For families of children with special needs
- Respite – For primary care givers seeking time off

Not sure if it's for you? It is if you believe that everyone is entitled to the same care and respect regardless of their age or condition—and if you want a job where you'll be appreciated like never before.

Part-time and full-time positions available throughout Rhode Island
